

GY-HM150/100: I have the HM-700, I would like to use the 100 as a companion camera. Is there anyway I can take my saved settings (Gamma, Knee and so on) on my 700 and load them into the 100?

While this sounds like a great idea, you must realize that the two cameras have different image sensors and image processing circuits. A specific setting on the 700 would likely create a very different look on the 100. Therefore, we do not offer this capability. It is possible to transfer settings between any of the 700 series models, though.
