

GY-HD200/250U: Can the JVC Pro HD 200 camera record in standard definition as well?

Yes, all of the JVC ProHD tape based cameras including the GY-HD110, GY-HD200 and GY-HD250 can record in standard definition DV mode, as well as high definition. When recording in the DV mode, the tapes and files (if the optional hard disk is used) are fully compatible with any DV system. The memory-card based models GY-HM100 and GY-HM700 cannot record in standard definition. The new GY-HM790 does have the capability of recording SD as well as HD.

Unique solution ID: #1069

Author: Dave Walton

Last update: 2010-08-05 06:09